PIE Census

In order to ensure that the Scottish Government and local authorities are meeting the commitments made in the National Action Plan we need to gather the opinions and feedback of parents to evaluate the progress we are making.

The parental Involvement and engagement census will help us with this evaluation, providing the information that both national and local government need to assess the progress of the work currently being undertaken and to identify areas for further improvement based on the direct feedback of parents.

Please arrange for the following message to be circulated to all parents in your school.

To provide feedback on your child's school, please complete the PIE Census survey
